Subject: California Salmon Fishing

As someone who's been fishing recreationally in California for more than 35 years I'm very disappointed in the actions being taken by the state and federal governments regarding the sustainability of the central valley salmon population. Catering to the interests of farmers growing crops in a desert environment and ignoring the needs of the public at large. I know there has been a lot written about the economic impact of recreational fishing. Personally I've spent more than $100,000 in the past several years associated with boating and fishing.

I urge you to consider a solution that works for the little people. I strongly support MLPA Proposal 2.
